Adventure Camps cater to the whole child. “Whole child programs” understand the importance of physical activity, being in the company of peers, while allowing each child to be a vital member of the team. Our programs foster responsibility by teaching children to run their own business. Campers learn that the results they achieve are in direct correlation to the effort they put in. Whole children programs teach valuable life lessons in a fun, exciting, and memorable way. The children will be physically active every day, through sports, and swimming trips, and their minds will be kept active through problem solving and games of imagination. Our programs are taught by certified teachers, knowledgeable about children's developmental behavior, skilled in teaching life lessons, trained in CPR and First Aid. They will come home with a lot to talk about at dinner time!
